第四部分 写作

第一节:

Dear Hans

I'm glad to hear you will hold an activity on the "Chinese Language Day", which falls on April 20th. Here are some tips to make it amazing and educational.

From my perspective, engaging audience in entertaining activities is a top priority. It can start with Chinese calligraphy show demonstrating the beauty of Chinese characters. To highlight the unmatched charm of this elegant language, a Chinese speech contest are highly recommended. Subsequently, it could be wrapped up with "Jasmine", a traditional Chinese song, which will certainly impress the audience.

I am sure this will be a feast of culture and I sincerely hope you could record this unforgettable show and share your achievement with me!

Yours, Li Hua

第二节:

That night, I was struck by an idea as I read a graphic novel that all three of us liked. Thrilled and inspired, I sprang in front of my desk, racked my brains and started drawing a few scenes of three of us giggling, chattering and enjoying each other's company like we usually did. On the last page, I wrote, "Dear Kash, you are not the one left behind. Liya and I are so sorry about the way we messed things up." Pierced to the heart with guilt, I gingerly tucked the paintings into an envelope hoping this would be an icebreaker.

The next day, I handed my pages of apology to Kash. He took it, looking surprised at the first sight. After he read it, an expression of intense joy illuminated his eyes. Blushed, I broke the silence, "I'm sorry, dude. We should have talked to you." With her eyes fixed on the floor, Liya came over and apologized in a low voice, "You mean a lot to us." Hearing her words, Kash shook his head and beamed, "I was way too sensitive." We exchanged a knowing smile, realizing that sincerity, trust and communication were always the key to clearing up the misunderstanding between friends.

M: I'm thinking of going into politics when I'm older. I want to make a difference in this world and I think I have good ideas.

W: Then, what will be your main focus? Employment? Education?

M: The natural world and pollution.(1)

Text 2

W: My father cannot be here tonight for medical reasons, so I'd like to accept this award for his services to films instead.(2)

M: Thank you for joining us tonight. Your father is an excellent actor of his generation! We wish him well.

Text 3

M: Ellen, I've seen you in the library all day. Have you been studying this whole time?

W: I am busy preparing for two exams tomorrow.

M: Please, let's take a walk together. Remember, you'll do your best work when you're relaxed, healthy and happy.(3)

Text 4

W: What are you doing? You've been on your computer for ages. Aren't you going to start doing your homework?

M: Well, I decided it was time to clean up my emails.(4) I had more than three thousand old emails. Now, I only have about two hundred left!

Text 5

W:The flight will leave in an hour. Drive faster.(5)

M: Take it easy. We'll make it. I am so excited! After a four-hour flight and a 45-minute train journey,we will get to the beach. Woo-hoo!

Text 6

M: This work is taking ages to complete. I have to fill in the names of everyone in the company and add all their details, like their home addresses, emails and phone numbers.(6)

W: Really? Let's have a look. Oh, I have a really good program that can do all that for you. All you do is link it to a list of all the people in the company and it can fill in all their details by itself without any control. You just sit back in your chair and relax!

M: Seriously? That would save me so much time! Could you download it on my computer for me?

W:Sure. I'll do that for you now.(7)

Text 7

W:Welcome, how can I help you?

M:I love these Nike shoes. Do you have this model in a black color and in size 7?(8)

W:Wait a moment. I shall check on the computer.

M:OK.

W: I'm sorry, sir. This model only comes in red, blue and white. Size 7 is available in blue and white at the moment. Would you like them?

M: I don't think so. Can you recommend anything similar?

W: How about these? They are very similar to the Nike's.

M: How much are these?(9)

W: They are $100, but I can give you a 15% discount if you sign up for a store membership card, which is free of charge.(9)

M: OK, I'll take them.(9)

Text8 (第 10 题为总结题)

W:Which continent has the largest land and the most amount of people living in it?

M: That's easy. It's Asia. Give me something harder. I really need to pass my geography test tomorrow and there's lots I haven't revised yet.(11)

W:OK, how about this one? What is the size of Asia in square kilometers?

M:That's a hard one. Is it 40 million?

W:You're close. It's actually more than that.

M: Wow, that's one big continent!

W: It's around 30% of the world's land! OK, next question: what is the second and third largest continents of the world in terms of land size?

M:I'm pretty confident Africa is the second, but I'm not 100% sure which is next. Is it South America?(12)

W:Africa is correct, and you're close with the next one. But the continent I'm looking for is actually its neighbor in the north.(12)

M: Oh, I should have known that. I'd love to go on holiday there!(12) My test is the first thing in the morning, but I still have a lot to go over. What should I do?

W:We've still got tonight. Come on, let's order some dinner and revise the rest!

Text 9(第 16 题为推断题)

M: Nancy, how are you feeling? You are not looking very good now.(13)

W: I am not in the best of health.(13)

M: It's the same old story, isn't it? Overwork. Listen, Nancy, you can't go on burning the candle at both ends.

W: You're right, but I want to make the best of my time to study. Besides, I am under a lot of pressure in class. Sometimes I can't follow the professor and very often I am not able to take notes while listening

M: I can understand, but if you go on working so hard, you could become ill. Do you sleep for enough hours?(14)

W: Well, about five hours a day.(14)

M: That's horrible. You should sleep for at least seven to eight hours. Are you sure you've completely recovered from that bad cold you had last week?

W: I am afraid not. I catch a cold so easily nowadays.

M: Take my advice and rest for a day.(15) Get out in the fresh air and sunshine, and you'll feel refreshed and relaxed

W: But I've got an essay to finish.

M: Don't think about it. Go out. It will do you a world of good and you'll never regret it.

W: All right. I'll do that, Jack. Thank you.

Text 10(第 20 题为推断题)

Good morning, I'm delighted to welcome you all to today's Flight FT123 from Shanghai to Paris,(17) stopping off at Berlin on our way. We'll be leaving very soon, with the journey scheduled to take 12 hours and 25 minutes. We will be flying at 10,000 feet. And I'm happy to report that the skies are calm, so it should be a reasonably smooth flight.

For your entertainment today, we have a selection of films for you to choose from.(18)

There are also plenty of computer games and music for you to listen to.

Our friendly flight staff will deal with any request you may have and will be serving hot and cold drinks throughout your trip. We have an excellent menu to choose from when you get hungry, with no limit on what you'd like to order.

May I remind you that this is a non-smoking plane, and that please turn off your phones, or put them on "flight mode".

In a moment, the staff will run through a few safety procedures,(19) which just leaves me to say I hope you enjoy your flight with us today. Thank you.
